

Disability Benefits Counseling Services

HOW ASSISTANCE FOR THE DISABLED BENEFICIARIES PROGRAMS IS WORKING

The Social Security Administration (SSA) encourages disabled beneficiaries to work to their fullest capability. SSA provides work supports that help beneficiaries to work, develop new training to work, earn income, maintain cash and medical benefits for a period of time, and apply across benefits to their jobs.

When a beneficiary requests Disability Benefits Counseling services, the Benefits Counseling office is specific to that beneficiary. The information includes guidance about available options, benefits, finding employment opportunities, goals, and it helps the beneficiary make informed choices about work. Benefits Counseling services can help people make informed choices about work and communicate effectively with SSA.

Individuals Eligible to Receive Disability Benefits Counseling Services

Disability Benefits Counseling services are available to Social Security Disability beneficiaries who are working or are actively looking for work. Social Security Disability beneficiaries include individuals receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI), Childhood Disability Benefits (CDB), or Worker's Disability Benefits (WDB).

What Disability Benefits Counseling Services Cost

Disability Benefits Counseling services are free of charge. There is never a cost to the beneficiary for all work-related.

How to Locate a Disability Benefits Counseling Services Provider

The Social Security Administration's Disability Benefits Counseling providers are listed below. Search results: <https://www.ssa.gov/online>. Enter your zip code to connect with local resources and services. Disability Benefits Counseling services are provided by Social Security Training and Resource Program (STRP), Access to Employment Networks (AEN), and more. Social Security Administration